

Figure 1. Study 1 scatter plots of correlations between granularity scores for positive emotions (A), negative emotions (B), and combined emotional granularity (C).

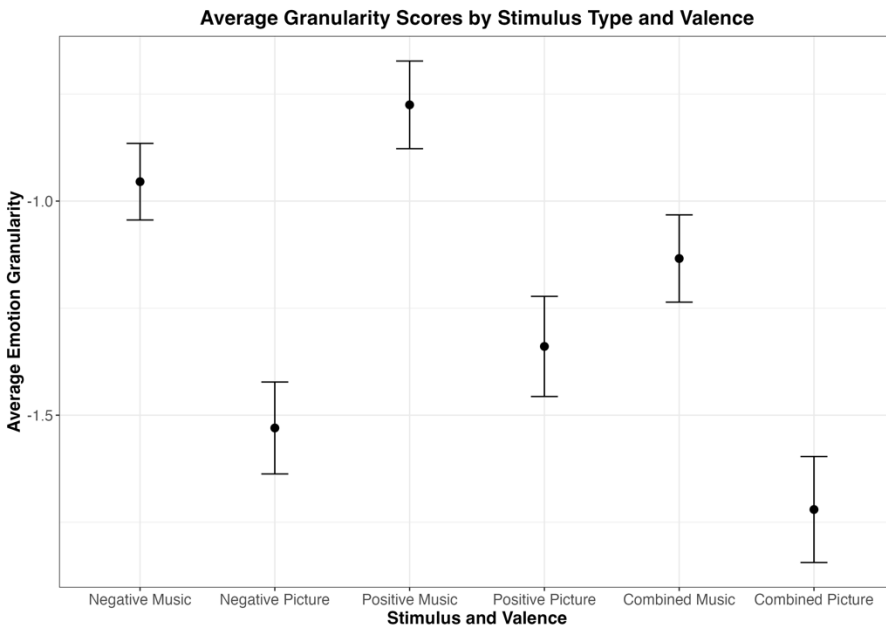

Figure 2. Study 1 average emotional granularity scores split by emotion valence (negative vs. positive) and stimulus type (picture vs. music). Error bars show 95% confidence intervals.